

Raptor Rapture Online

Identifying Vultures, Hawks and Falcons

Books

- Birds of Prey: Hawks, Eagles, Falcons, and Vultures of North America. by Pete Dunne and Kevin T. Karlson. 2017. Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Publishing Co. New York. 303 pages.

This is a comprehensive and beautifully illustrated resource on North America's Birds of Prey, authored by renowned raptor biologist Pete Dunne with stunning photos by Kevin Karlson

- Hawks in Flight: Second Edition. By David Sibley, Pete Dunne and Clay Sutton. 2012. Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Co., Boston and New York.

Updated with color photos and new revelations about 'holistic' methods for raptor identification. This new edition builds on the wisdom of this classic guide for hawk watchers and includes Sibley's superb illustrations and clear, information packed text.

- The Crossley ID Guide: Raptors. By Richard Crossley and Jerry Liguori. 2013. Princeton University Press. Princeton, NJ. 286 pages.

This book is notable for showing birds at all angles. Photographs include raptors perched and flying front and back as well as from below and above. Often a dozen or more positions on the same page. Also includes facts about geographic variation, molt, similar species and more. Fun quizzes help to review the information.

Your purchase of books from Project Puffin's Online Store supports Hog Island Audubon Camp and its programming. Make a difference for birds by clicking on the jacket covers above for a direct online link.

Other Top Hawk Watching Resources

- A Field Guide to Hawks of North America. By William S. Clark and illustrated by Brian K. Wheeler. Second Edition. 2001. Houghton Mifflin Company. Boston and New York. 314 pages.

Convenient pocket guide to 39 species of North American diurnal raptors.

- Hawks from Every Angle: How to Identify Raptors in Flight. By Jerry Liguori with foreword by David Sibley. 2005. Princeton University Press. Princeton, NJ.

Hawks from Every Angle compares and contrasts deceptively similar species and provides the photos (and words) needed for learning raptor identification. Includes 68 color plates and 32 black and white photos. 133 pages.

- Sibley's Raptors of Eastern and Western North America (Folding Guides). By David Allen Sibley. 2015.

Weatherproof foldout guides featuring the art of David Allen Sibley. These excellent pocket-sized guides fold out to show all the species in flight and perched. Separate guides for east and western North America help to give you the species that you are most likely to encounter. Also available as wall posters.

